LITTLE BIT
...on most anything

If, when visiting one of Pacific Grove's newly wet seashore establishments, you ever happen on a disconsolate soul staring dazedly into a boilermaker glowing amber in the setting sun, please don't walk over and try to comfort the poor man with a pat on the shoulder. It might just be a very close friend of ours and he might take your head off in a wild rage.

What this is all about will be patently clear if you watched Then Came Bronson on television last Wednesday night. If you didn't watch, then quit right here because most of the rest of this column will be a maudlin piece on it. (The rest of you who did watch and find yourselves squeemish at watching a grown man cry in print better quit, too.)

Those of you still with us may remember that we commented last December in Little Bit about the two advance men who expressed an interest in using the News-Sentinel office as a set for the episode. We were hurt because they never called back, which is probably understandable since we really didn't greet with too much enthusiasm the prospect of that kind of madhouse in our shop. But then we wanted to be coaxed, you know, and there's that old vanity. Well, Harry Graham over at the Pacific Grove Press print shop didn't play that hard to get. (His office didn't produce a newspaper then, but it does now, since Neill Gardner, publisher of the PG Tribune, is now putting out his paper there. Incidentally, please don't infer that the "close friend" mentioned above and old hard-bitten, cigar-chomping Neill are the same. We know Neill enjoys a little sauce now and then — after all, was there ever a weekly editor anywhere who didn't, at least according to legend and Bronson — but we know Neill would never fly off into a wild rage, under the influence.

Anyway, that Bronson is quite a guy. We wish NBC would send him over to straighten us out. This newspaper never ever has had a 30-page issue that we know of, even when it was a tabloid a few years back.

And how about that final scene? We would have loved to read that next issue. It surely would have been the final one if the landlord truly was going to close the doors and influential businessman meant what he said.

But seriously now, the episode did have some nice touches, some beautiful photography right here on Seaside's beach, and Bronson and his crew did display some empathy for the small, weekly newspaper—which isn't much different from any small business as it withers away to bigness and conglomerates and monopolies. The only flaw was that the script writers chose that new Public Enemy No. 1, with which virtually no one dares disagree — the pollution of Monterey Bay.

And that flaw very nearly makes the story line for the episode a lie. For you see, everyone is going to get behind that crusader who vows to clean up the bay, not the crusader who balks, and says:

'Damn it. To hell with that fake pollution scare. Let's get some jobs for our poor and unemployed over here in Seaside. It's ridiculous for some state body like the water quality control board — with political motives hanging out all over the place — to try to fine Seaside $6,000 a day because some new bacteria count regulations say our sewer plant is polluting the bay.'

(If there's anything that makes us boil it is the knowledge that the richies on the other side of the hill, some of whom don't even have sewers, could get off Scot free.)

So you see Bronson's fallen idol needn't have, because as the new-found cliche goes these days: Saving our environment has replaced motherhood and the flag as the most vital rallying cry of any politician's campaign oratory.

Crusading against pollution, Bronson's alcoholic was an editor to be pitied, admired and only a little scorned by the vast American TV viewing public.

That public would have reacted with quite another attitude, we would imagine, had Bronson's editor advocated violence on our college campuses as a means of achieving reform, revolution, if you will — or pressed for the immediate withdrawal of all American troops from Vietnam — or editorialized for immediate and total integration of the nation's schools by watever means necessary.

It'd be interesting to see what Bronson would have done with that one. CML

You have to look twice

Ever stared at someone and muttered to yourself, 'I just know I've seen that person someplace but I can't for the life of me tell you where.'

At least one member of the local motorcycle club, The Losers, must have muttered that to himself last Friday night.

He should have. He was staring at one of the best actresses of our time.

Jane Fonda, one of the five Academy Award nominees for best actress this year, came pretty much incognito to the GI Coffeehouse in Seaside to "rap" with some GIs. She made a quiet exit just after several Losers unexpectedly entered the restaurant.

As it turned out there was no incident. There were some tense moments while the owners of the coffeehouse and the Losers exchanged "pleasantries." The Losers wanted to know why thecoffeehouse gave support to the Viet Cong, the GIs wanted to know why The Losers were spoiling for a fight. Neither said either was true. A couple of Seaside policemen came, and everybody talked for a bit; The Losers left, and the GIs closed up for the night.

It could have been different, not at all what Jane Fonda wanted. And that became clear a while later when she sat down at another Peninsula coffeehouse to talk about her visit to Seaside, and why this was her first stop in a meandering trip across the country. "I plan to visit every GI coffeehouse I can. I'll go anywhere to talk to GIs in the movement."

The movement is a loose-knit chain of similar coffeehouses through the country generally close to military installations. The coffeehouses have become centers for distributing anti-war literature and for publishing GI underground newspapers. They, also, are a place where GIs can go to "get away and not get hasseled."

The local coffeehouse was denied by the planning commission a use permit to sell and distribute literature in addition to the permitted restaurant use. Attorney for the owners, Carmel Services, Inc., Steve Slatkow of the Legal Aid Society has appealed the decision to the city council. It has been set for public hearing March 19.

"The guys need a place where they can go and bitch, just let off steam," Miss Fonda said. "One fellow over in Seaside was just mad about the fact that he couldn't get his laundry done anywhere when he was over in Vietnam."

"It it's valid for these GIs to fight for their country, okay, then it should be valid for them to be able to question why our country is fighting. People need to be told to stop and listen to them."

That's to be her aim in the next month, to listen to as many soldiers as will talk and question, and to try to fight the fact that the military and the war have "dehumanized" so many boys. CML

Seaside girl wins BofA scholarship

Ruby Izumi of Seaside and David T. French of Monterey have been announced as 1970 winners of Monterey Peninsula College's Bank of America Junior College Awards.

The two honor students will join winners from 44 other Northern California colleges in receiving $300 checks and framed certificates of merit at a banquet March 12 at the San Fransisco Hilton Hotel.

Miss Izumi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seizo Izumi, graduated from Monterey High School in 1968 and will graduate from MPC in June. A secretarial science major, she plans to transfer to San Jose State College, with becoming a teacher of secretarial science as her goal. At MPC she is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, the honor society, and works as a student secretary in college offices.

David T. French is a Vietnam veteran who works part time as an accountant-auditor for a local public accountant while carrying a full study schedule as a business administration major at MPC. Married and a father, he plans to pass the Certified Public Accountant examination and start his own business as a practicing CPA specializing in business, investment and tax cousulting.

Bank of America award winners, according to Thomas F. Saake, chairman of MPC's business division, must have earned grade point averages placing them among the highest students in their respective fields and earned a minimum of 24 units of college credit. Additional qualifications include a demonstration of leadership in extracurricular activities, an ability to get along well with others and - in some cases - evidence of successful business employment.

No cash for this dance, just food

A benefit dance with a twist for admission will be held Friday night, March 6, at the Monterey Peninsula College gym.

Tickets can be had by donating at least five cans of food, which will go to the Monterey County Food Bank, 1936 Del Monte, in Seaside.

Aunt Maggie's Basement will play for the dance, which will run from 7-11 p.m.

Council to hear how city runs

City councilman are scheduled to hear what an expert thinks about how well the city is operated Thursday at their regular meeting at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Griffenhagen-Kroeger, a management and personnel consulting firm, will make the first of two reports — an analysis of jobs and their descriptions plus a salary review.

The second report to be issued at the council's March 19 meeting will consist of a management study.

The project was initiated last year shortly after Milton Farrell became city manager. The study will cost the city $7,500. It is the first every done for Seaside.

Education Week for the very young

Early Childhood Education Week, March 1-7, is being observed throughout California in order to emphasize the importance of preschools, kindergartens and the first through third grades in the education of young children in a rapidly changing world.

A cooperative effort by a variety of groups, the week is being observed locally with displays of children's art work at Macy's, Monterey Savings and Loan and the Monterey Public Library.

Where the young child once had constant interaction with brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles, parents and grandparents as well as various people outside his family, today's families are smaller, more mobile and more isolated in residential areas so that the child's contacts are more limited. The gap has been filled by preschools whose offerings range from strictly structured curriculums with emphasis on reading readiness or social grace to unstructured programs where the children are presented with a variety of matials and experiences and are allowed to respond as their needs direct them.

In addition to providing a learning experience for the children, parent participation schools educate the parents as well. Trhough assisting in daily routine of the schools and taking a weekly evening course in child development, mothers are given the opportunity to hear specialists in the field of child guidance, to share ideas with other mothers and to find meaningful and worthwhile opportunities to develop unused or acquired skills.

Two such schools will hold open houses Saturday, March 7, from 10 a.m. to noon to acquaint visitors with the parent participation program and to greet alumnae and friends. They are Monterey Peninsula College Parent Participation Nursery School, under the directorship of Mrs. Charles Hawkins, which is in new quarters on the MPC campus, and Peninsula Parent Nursery School, which is operated by the Adult Education division of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, and meets at Faith Lutheran Church, 1460 Hilby, Seaside, with Mrs. Joseph P. Russell as director.

Art work by children of these two schools will be on display during Early Childhood Education Week along with contributions from the Pacific Grove Parent Participation Nursery School, the Monterey City Recreation Department Nursery School, and the Monterey and Seaside Child Care Centers.

Seniors to meet

Legislation to raise benefits and improve conditions for California's state old age pensioners will be the subject of a report by speakers for the California League of Senior Citizens at a meeting Friday, March 13 at 10:30 a.m. at the Adult Center, 972 Hilby Ave., between Fremont Blvd., and Wheeler Sts., in Seaside.

A noon potluck follows

The league is focusing attention in particular on AB6 by Vurton and SB260 by Danielson, measures to pass on $7.50 of the recent Federal Social Security increase to recipients of Old Age Security.

The League is a non-profit, humanitarian organization devoted to improving the liing conditions of the elderly and public assistance recipients.

Winter's a pain.

the blossoms are gone,

you can't go to the beach,

and your winter PG&E bills go up.

But look at the brighter side. Think of all the delicious hot meals, cozy warmth, television watching and other indoor comforts you're now enjoying. You're buying a lot more PG&E energy to make winter a lot less disagreeable. And spring's just around the corner. That means the temperature will soon go back up. And your PG&E bill will go back down again.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Since I'm not sure what my income will be this year, can I use 1969 figures for my estimated tax?

A) Yes, one method that can be used to make an estimated tax declaration is to base it on last year's income and expense figures. Make any adjustment you think necessary in these figures when you file the declaration.

Should your income situation change after filing, make the required adjustment when you make the next installment payment. The change can be made on the estimated tax worksheet you used to figure your original declaration.

If you received a package of pre-addressed estimated tax vouchers in the mail, use one to make each quarterly payment. This will assure proper crediting of your payments. If you need to file an estimated tax declaration and did not receive the Form 1040ES package by mail, the forms can be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q) I sold some shares of stock I inherited from my grandfather. How do I report this?

A) Report any gain or loss on Schedule D. Generally, the gain or loss will be the difference between proceeds of the sale and the fair market value of the stock at the date of decedent's death.

For your convenience, a copy of Schedule D and instructions were included in the 1040 tax package mailed out this year.

Q) Is a company pension taxable?

A) If the company paid the entire cost, the pension usually will be fully taxable when you receive the proceeds. If you contributed to the cost of the pension, then only a portion is taxable.

If the employee's total contributions are recovered within three years after he receives his first pension payment, no tax has to be paid on the pension until the employee's total contributions are recovered. If the employee's contributions will not be recovered within that time, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year.

This is explained in greater detail in the instructions accompanying Schedule E which is part of the 1040 tax package.

Q) Do you need all my W–2's? I had several part-time jobs last year in addition to my regular one.

A) Yes, a W–2 from each employer should be attached to the back of your tax return. A missing W–2 was a major reason for delayed refunds last year. If you cannot get all your W–2 forms, report all your income and attach a statement explaining how you computed any tax withheld for which you claim credit, but for which you have no Form W–2.

Attach copy B of each W–2 to your return. The other copies are for state income tax returns where required and for your records.

Q) I was charged a pre-payment penalty when I paid off my mortgage. Can I deduct this?

A) Yes, this is deductible as interest if you itemize.

Q) My friend said I had to add the surcharge to what the tax table showed I owed. Is that right?

A) Yes, the tax tables show the regular income tax and to this amount should be added the income tax surcharge. You should use the tax surcharge tables on page T–1 of the Form 1040 package to determine your surcharge.

The tax tables are for taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 who don't itemize. IRS will also figure the tax due for these taxpayers in most situations.

Q) I moved last year to take a new job. Can I deduct my costs of moving from one city to another?

A) Under certain conditions, certain moving costs are deductible. You can qualify for this deduction if you move to take a new job or for another job with the same employer. You may take this deduction even if you do not itemize your deductions.

Conditions under which moving costs are deductible are covered on page E–2 of the 1040 instructions.

Q) I'm a widow and my daughter lives with me. Can I file as head of household even though my daughter supports herself?

A) You may be entitled to file as unmarried head of household if you meet certain requirements. This is explained in the 1040 instruction package most taxpayers received in the mail. You will find this information on page B–2 of the package.

Q) The tax surcharge is supposed to be 10 percent for 1969 but it looks much lower for some taxpayers according to the surcharge tables. Why?

A) To help ease the tax burden, Congress specifically limited or did not impose the surcharge on certain low income taxpayers.

Q) How do you deduct Blue Cross premiums for tax purposes?

A) To deduct Blue Cross and other medical insurance payments you must itemize deductions on Schedule A. One-half of these premiums up to a maximum of $150 are deductible without regard to the 3 percent limitation on medical expenses. The balance of the premiums should be added to your other medical expenses and is subject to the 3 percent limitation.

The instructions given for completing Schedule A can be found right on the back of this form. For your convenience, copies of this and other schedules were included in the 1040 tax package.

Q) Since the first $100 in dividends is tax free, do I need to fill out Schedule B and send it in if I have just $50 in dividends?

A) Schedule B should be completed and sent in with your Form 1040 when the gross amount you receive in dividends is more than $100. This $100 figure is determined before you have taken your dividend exclusion on line 12b, Form 1040.

WOMEN'S HEALTH

THE RACE BETWEEN STORK AND DRIVER

Dhapel Hill, N.C. (WMNS) - If clogged roads and traffic jams unpredictably delayed storks as well as people, doctors would be less tempted to try to schedule childbirths.

As it is, warns Dr. Charles Hendricks, chairman of the obstetrics department of the University of North Carolina, the chemical induction of labor is spreading.

In rural areas, where the expectant mother lives far from the hospital and where there's a doctor shortage, some overworked physicians have induced labor in more than half of their patients. In large cities, labor is traditionally induced only for medical reasons.

But now, says Dr. Hendricks, induced labor is becoming more acceptable because miserable rush hour traffic conditions between suburgs and downtown hospitals make many trips a perilous race between stork and driver.

The obstetrician believes that non - medical induction should never be done for the convenience of the doctor but is sometimes permissible for the convenience of the patient.

A DOCTOR'S "PAINFUL DECISION"

Irvine, Calif. (WMNS) - A self - described conservative, prudish doctor, living in a conservative, strait-laced, agricultural community, finds himself prescribing birth control pills for certain teenagers after years of refusing to give contraception to minors.

"I had to make a painful decision," recalls Dr. William B. Thompson, assistant professor of gynecology at the University of California at Irvine. "I spent years in Los Angeles working at a Crittendon Home for unmarried mothers. I saw four 12-year-old girls there who were pregnant and who didn't know why they were pregnant. You have to be concerned about such tragedies. I decided that my work was too late."

Better to prevent the tragedy, the obstetrician decided, than insist that a yound girl endure an unwanted prenancy before she receives contraceptive advice.

The Youngest patient for whom Dr. Thompson has prescirbed an oral contraceptive is 10-1/2. The youngest patient in whom he's inserted an intrauterine device is 12.

It's a fact of a gynecologist's life, Dr. Thompson says, that early sexuality exists. "If a good-looking 15 year old comes into my office," he says regretfully, "I know why she's there. She is no longer a virgin."

ACCOLADE FOR CARMINATIVE

London, Eng. (WMNS) - Hail the lowly oil of peppermint, known to the ancient Greeks and just rousingly endorsed by the august British Medical Journal for its "swift and universal action" in producing burps.

Known formally as carminatives, such volatile oils as peppermint, cardamom, dill, ginger, cinnamon and cloves are used for bawling infants and "Patients complaining of wind," as well as in liqueurs and as seasonings.

Carminatives, usually sold in alcoholic solutions (tinctures), are praised as "useful, pleasant and (apparently) without side-effects," producing "an almost immediate sensation of warmth" in the upper reaches of the abdomen followed within a few minutes by a well-rounded easeful belch.

Alas, carminative also appear in onions and garlic, leading to the suspicion that they may produce unwelcome heartburn. Still, says the BMJ, they "have stood the test of time well."

Who Cares ?

M.J. VERCOE

Recently a large financial institution ran full page ads in major Calif. newspapers asking Governor Reagan to bring an end to such acts of lawlessness as the burning of the bank as Isle-Vista.

I have a plan, that if adopted by all concerned, might help to end such acts.

Pass a law requiring that human values be considered as important as business profit values. Such a law could give teeth to the following proposals.

Lower interest rates from their present usurious levels to realistic levels so that poor people who have to live in debt most of their lives could see some light at the "end of the tunnel".

Discontinue our present standard practice of frightening our people into periodically engaging in business - boosting ventures profitable for a few but economically disastrous to others. Examples are, the space program, the proposed, utterly useless anti - ballistic missile project, and the criminally misrepresented and tragic Vietnam war.

Take the money ordinarily wasted on ventures such as those above, and use it instead to build housing for our poorly housed, to provide food and meaningful employment for our poor, and to otherwise demonstrate to our "have-nots" that we think as much of them as we do of the almightly dollar and that they have a rightful place in our society.

Certainly we could pass laws that would outlaw everything from breathing in public to sex in private homes, but rather than trying to keep a bathtub from overflowing by packing muc around its edges, wouldn't it be simpler to just pull the plug or shut off the water?

APPLICATION FOR PUBLICATION OF SUMMONS AND ORDER

ELIZABETH CHILDS, Petitioner,
-and-
FREDERICK R. CHILDS, Respondent.

I, THE UNDERSIGNED, DECLARE: That I am the Petitioner in the above-entitled Petition; That the respondent cannot with due diligence be found within the State of California; The facts of the due diligence used in the effort to find FREDERICK R. CHILDS are as follows: I checked with his ex-employer, Department of Motor Vehicles, and from his best friend in Los Angeles, however, they all could not furnish the whereabouts of the respondent.

Petitioner and respondent were living together at 3082 Zanetta Dr., Marina, California. However, on June 21, 1969, without any reason at all, respondent disserted me, and on the 27th day of June, I received a letter from the respondent to the effect that he won't be coming back anymore.

I searched the telephone directories of Monterey County and the City of Salinas, the City Directory of Salinas, and the Registrar of Voters, and have been unable to fine his name listed therein.

The creditors of respondent were looking for him. They also made effort to locate the respondent for the purpose of collecting certain obligations which he owed them. I communicated with them and they have been looking for him since July 1969, but they were unable to locate him. They told me that they canvassed his friends, relatives, the Motor Vehicles Department, and other sources of information which were available to them, but they have been unable to locate him.

A good ground for legal separation exists against respondent and in favor of Petitioner as shown by the Petition on file herein, which Petition is hereby incorporated by reference, the same as though fully set forth at length.

That the Seaside News Sentinel is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Seaside, County of Monterey, State of California; That the publication of the Summons herein in the said newspaper is most likely to give notice of the legal separation herein between Petitioner and respondent.

WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that this Court order publication of the Summons herein to be published in the Seaside News Sentinel, once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks.

I declare, under penalty of perjury, that the foregoing is true and correct.

EXECUTED on February 11, 1970, at Seaside, California.
